Notes

I love the art of story telling via both the written word and through the art of acting. Inspired by my father I have written a collection of short stories based loosely on my life experiences. I always like to see the funny side of life and try to find the humour within each story.

I also work part time as a Registered Nurse at my local hospital. I believe the skills and core values developed over many years as a Registered Nurse are a great asset to me as an actor.
